Life-Changing

“He has made everything beautiful in its time...I perceived that whatever God does endures forever.” Ecclesiastes 3:11,14 (ESV)

I’ve heard it said that everything changes when you get married. I have also heard it said that marriage is the best thing that one can be a part of. I have not yet experienced these two viewpoints on marriage, however I will begin my journey to understanding what they mean on April 22 of this year.

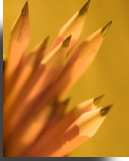

Alei and I met last year at a young adults conference and a spark, which the Lord placed within us, began to grow as we fellowshiped together and got to know one another. As the days passed we saw the Lord drawing our hearts together. We will become one in just a few short weeks and begin our life’s journey together. Alei and I are excited to have some family fly over to attend the wedding and be a special part of our day.

Alei has resigned from her job here and is joining ACTION as a full-time missionary. We are excited for what the future holds. Please pray with us as we start our new life together.

“Let us throw off everything that hinders and the sin that so easily entangles, and let us run with perseverance the race marked out for us.” Hebrews 12:1 (ESV)

Ministry Update

"More than that, we rejoice in our sufferings, knowing that suffering produces endurance, and endurance produces character, and character produces hope." Romans 5:3-4 (ESV)

Maybe it's too harsh to describe language school as suffering, however if you have ever studied another language full-time you might agree. It takes hard work, discipline, endurance and lots of practice. I love how the Romans passage ends with the word hope. In the beginning we cannot see the end and so we feel as if we will be stuck in the suffering stage for life. However there comes a point when we see the end drawing near and can see the hope that is to come. I have learned much this past year about language, culture and missions. I count it all a blessing and am honored to have been taught by such amazing men and women at His Name Language School.

I have completed 10 months of school so far and expect to finish by August this year. I can look back and see all of the little steps that I've taken in this language journey. It was great to study the local language as it truly helps me minister well to the Filipino people on a deep, personal level.

My parents and I with the His Name staff.
